Program Name: Long-Term Offender Pilot Program (LTOPP)

Description: The LTOPP is a voluntary program that provides evidenced-based programming to inmates who are serving long-term sentences. Services are provided in both individual and group settings to address the following major criminogenic areas:

- Substance Use Disorder
- Criminal Thinking
- Anger Management
- Family Relationships
- Transitions
- Victim Impact

Location(s): Central California Women's Facility (CCWF), California Men's Colony (CMC), and California State Prison, Solano (SOL)

Length of Program: The length of the program varies, based on each individual's assessed needs.

Enrollment: Inmates will be placed in the LTOPP by a Classification Committee on a voluntary basis, based on their eligibility requirements (see below).

Eligibility Requirements: Inmates may be enrolled if they are housed within the general population, and are not precluded from placement at a LTOPP facility. They must have appeared before the Board of Parole Hearings (BPH) for Initial Parole Consideration, been denied parole, and have sufficient time to complete the program prior to their next Parole hearing. Totally medically disabled inmates will require clearance by a classification committee prior to placement.

CDCR's Division of Rehabilitative Programs (DRP) manages adult inmate and parolee rehabilitative programs. Its top priority is to provide rehabilitative programming and life skills to offenders in an effort to reduce their likelihood of reoffending after their release from prison. DRP is comprised of the Office of Offender Services (OS), the Office of Correctional Education (OCE), and the Office of Program Accountability and Support (OPAS).
